

Eton in a rush to hear Joanna ...

ADOLESCENT hearts are pounding at Eton.

"New Avengers" star Joanna Lumley has consented to visit the school and address their Contemporary Arts Society.

Already four forward imps—including the wonderfully named Earl of Rock-savage, 17 — have bagged places at the pre-lecture dinner.

Screen goddess Miss Lumley had not decided on the subject of her talk when I spoke to her yesterday.

Certainly nothing too clever for the mites. For, as she admits: "They want me because they have already had Elton John and Angie Bowie."

Joanna ... undecided